nual town election in Mattapoisett on April 7th.

His opposition included Town Clerk Lois K. Ennis who received 689 votes and incumbent James F. Huntoon with 572. There were 20 blanks.

The jubilant winner said he and his committee worked hard and - "The people have spoken. They want something done and I am looking forward to getting more new and young people to work on committees and boards." Mr. Hubbard was officially sworn into office by the Town Clerk.

A total of 2427 voters went to the polls on a miserably wet day last Tuesday making a 67.56 percent turnout out of 3592 registered voters. Town Clerk Ennis had predicted about a 50 percent turnout.

In running for re-election to the Town Clerk's office Mrs. Ennis handily beat out newcomer Marilyn A. Almeida with 1715 votes to Ms. Almeida's 637 votes. There were 74 blanks and one scattering. Mrs. Ennis, who has completed 21 years as Town Clerk, said it was gratifying to see so many people turn out for the election. "I worked hard, and I campaigned the best I knew how to and I thank all my supporters for their work on my behalf."

Incumbent Huntoon, who completed six years as Selectman, thanked the town of Mattapoisett for allowing him to participate in their government for six years and he wished William Hubbard the best of luck.

Incumbent Peter F. Coville was returned to a three-year term on the Old Rochester Regional District

Mattapoisett Selectmen's Meeting

APRIL 7, 1987-by VIRGINIA ARRAL

REFUSES TO ACCEPT
POOR QUALITY TOWN REPORT

Problems with printing of the town report may result in the late delivery before the annual town meeting on May 4th. Executive Secretary Carol Adams informed Selectmen last Tuesday that she refused to accept delivery of the reports printed by Hi-Tech Graphics of Fitchburg because of the poor quality of the photographs, as they were much too dark.

Selectmen Chairman John N. DeCosta expressed concern saying, "We are

Chairman DeCosta said the report has been delayed at times in past years because department reports were late; however, everything was on time this year. Selectmen noted they hoped to deliver them to residents this week. They asked that residents understand the lateness, and they will do the best they can to get the reports out as soon as possible.

Mrs. Adams said the printer gave the town two options: the first is to pay $3,000 more for a new printing with no photographs and the second, to accept a $250. rebate on the contract price of $4,000 and accept the reports as printed. She noted Hi-Tech also has the contract to print the town warrants at $1,100; however, there is a question remaining on whether the town will proceed with that part of the printing job.

The Executive Secretary said the photographs were of good quality and that they are still in the printer's possession. She added that a spokesman from Hi-Tech informed her that some of the typewritten materi-

In other business, Selectmen:

RECEIVED A LETTER from Mr. Yale Lansky, 75 North Street, requesting to be considered as a volunteer to the Board of Appeals as a paralegal. (This subject had been discussed at a previous Selectmen's meeting with Appeals Board member George Heinz.)

In his letter, Mr. Lansky said he is a paralegal, and for the past year has been working with the law firm of Abelson, Cohen and Scarpaci as a real estate paralegal. In this capacity, he has been involved in preparing documents, title examinations, curing title defects (including the acquisition of zoning variances) and research.

Selectmen agreed to take his request under consideration until April 30 when all annual town appointments will be made. On a similar matter, Selectmen will also place on file the name of Gail McCabe, who has requested to be considered as an alternate on the Appeals Board.

She further wrote, "All animal rescue work is so very poor financially, the shelters run on so little money and the dog officer is only paid a small sum. I want this dog license money from fees to go to the dog officer for animal rescue. The cost of gasoline is high, and there are attendant expenses. plainly to animals should go to help them rather than to a town politician."

The Board agreed to send Miss Oliver a letter explaining that the reason dog license fees go to the Town Clerk is because it is a state law. They noted that in this way the town does not have to budget a higher wage for the Town Clerk. If the fees were not a part of the Town Clerk's salary, the office would most likely have a larger salary voted by the town voters, Town Clerk Lois K. Ennis explained after the meeting.

A Letter to Voters

A TIP OF THE HAT by FORMER MATTAPOISETT SELECTMAN JIM HUNTOON

I am writing this letter to you, the citizens of Mattapoisett, while my feet are still damp and cold from standing in the rain Election Day and while my heart is still warm from the voter participation in our town's annual election.

True democracy, it is said, works only when more than a majority participates in making a choice. Mattapoisett extended itself well beyond that by turning out at the polls with a 68% participation in choosing who will serve the town for the next three years as Selectman.

My hat goes off to Selectman Bill Hubbard, his family, friends, and his entire campaign organization for the work they put into achieving the result, Bill Hubbard - Selectman.

To you the citizens of Mattapoisett a heartfelt thanks for allowing me the rare opportunity to serve you

To Marion Voters:

Year to year, the School Committee's most significant task is formulating and adopting a school budget. It is within the school budget that the Committee identifies its educational priorities and sets direction for the administration. The budget is a plan, a detailed blueprint for the construction of a child's education.

To be accurate and effective, the budget must be developed around a number of critical variables. A budget must consider the kinds of services that will be offered, the state mandates, and state initiatives. It must reflect the impact of changing student and staff populations and finally, it must incorporate the projected cost of goods and services as well as the pattern of past expenditure levels.

As it responds to these variables, the fiscal '88 school budget is reasonable and responsible. This budget plans no new programming. It maintains programming and staffing that is now ongoing and provides support where needed.

However, due to the tax limitations set by Proposition 2½ the town of Marion cannot raise sufficient tax dollars to fund this budget.

As regulated by Proposition 2½ the town can only raise 2½% more taxes than it could raise the year before plus an adjustment for new construction. Meanwhile, the cost of basic services has been rising between 5 and 6%. In the past, budget cuts and cash reserves have offset the difference, but no longer. This year, cash reserves are low and budget cuts have been made, and still there are insufficient funds to cover the cost of the Sippican School budget.

In response, the Finance Committee has recommended that a portion of the school budget be raised by way of an override.

Voters in more than a third of the Massachusetts cities and towns have elected to override Proposition 2½ and, according to the Department of Revenue, that number is likely to grow this spring as more and more communities attempt to resolve the dilemma of funding town services and improvements.

Use of the override mechanism does not signal failure of Proposition 2½. On the contrary, the override mechanism has been a part of the Proposition since its inception and was designed to be used as a tool in the event the voters determine a need.

If used this tool will add 25¢ to the tax rate and spare the school additional budget cuts of $42,891.

It is the hope of the Marion School Committee that the voters will recognize this critical need and support the educational programs at Sippican School. We ask that you consider the dividends of investing in a child's education and vote YES for the override proposal.

which seriously affect their school achievement. Early identification of these problems and intervention can greatly help them to achieve normal functioning.

Funds to conduct this screening are provided by the Massachusetts Department of Education. Jane Taylor, Early Childhood consultant, has been hired by the school district to coordinate this clinic.

Parents of all three and four year olds in Marion, Mattapoisett, and Rochester will receive a mailing regarding this project the week of April 27th. Open Space & Landbanking

The incredible "miracle of Massachusetts" economic boom has reached every corner of the state - even sleepy southeastern Massachusetts. While this growth has brought much-needed employment and prosperity, it has also severely taxed systems and services that were set up to deal with a less densely populated community. The ensuing pressure for both commercial and residential development has necessitated the review of our zoning by-laws, health code regulations, housing and open space planning. Of course, we must ensure the protection of our water, the maintenance of the wetlands, the regulation of traffic and noise, the control of sub-divisions - but equally important is the protection of the key open parcels of land that give Marion its unique character.

The recent League of Women Voters' survey has documented the town's desire for open space protection with landbanking as a method of achieving this. At the same time, the Selectmen have charged our committee with the investigation of open space planning and landbanking. Landbanking is an innovative approach to financing open space protection. Simply stated: "On its initiative, a community establishes a small real estate transfer fee, the proceeds to go into a locally managed fund, dedicated to the protection of open space." Landbanking is a way of generating funds that enables a town to acquire land, to rehabilitate existing town properties, to hire planning consultants and in some cases, to create affordable housing. It is a planning tool that keeps the control at a local level and does not affect the town debt rating. It creates an annual stream of income that allows Marion to float a bond issue that will provide the town with monies to participate competitively in the real estate market. For instance, in 1985, the total real estate transfers in Marion were roughly $18,500,000 - a 2% transfer tax would produce $370,000 per annum which could be used to pay the principal and interest on a much larger bond issue - as great as 5 times the tax or $1.5 million. The transfer tax would be the exclusive security for the bond issue so that property owners would have no liability whatsoever. It would give Marion the wherewithal to participate in planning the future - we could initiate development, not just react to it. Several years ago, some land along the harbor was offered to the town at a fair market price - because of financial and legal constraints, the town was unable to take advantage of this. Today, a development is going up at this critical site at the entrance to the harbor. Landbanking funds could have kept this space open.

What we are asking for at town meeting is permission from the town to petition the state legislature to authorize the town of Marion to establish a land bank. Because landbank funds anticipate a new tax on real estate transfers, they must be approved by the state legislature. As this can take a long time, we would at least like to get in the landbanking process this year. A landbank home rule petition can anticipate future needs without binding the town today. Once passed by the town meeting, the committee would thoroughly investigate the whole concept and with the approval of the Selectmen, come back to town meeting next year with a specific proposal. If the proposal is unacceptable to the town, the petition can be withdrawn. At the moment, we are simply asking for Marion to enter the legislative process.

Our committee is meeting every second and fourth Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Marion Town Hall. The meetings are open and we welcome any input, discussion, criticism, etc. Please join us.

STUDY GROUP ON "INFORMAL CAREGIVING"

Family caregivers and friends provide more than seventy-five percent of all care given to older adults in this country. This fact refutes the popularly held myth that families desert their elders and the government bears full responsibility for all care. These family and friends, called "informal caregivers", experience many rewards in caregiving but also face financial, emotional and physical stresses.

Programs at Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School. The Training Programs started in October and included 144 hours of Hands-On Instruction in the three vocational areas of Automotive, Offset Printing, and Welding.

According to the Program Coordinator, Mr. Richard Mitchell, the Training Programs have two objectives. First, individuals within the trade may upgrade their skills and secondly unemployed and underemployed participants develop new skills in high employment areas.

The programs are funded under a Vocational Educational Grant without cost to the School District. Old Colony plans to offer additional Adult Training Programs in the Fall pending the availability of Grant Funds.

the exhibition profiles each landscape architect and documents his/her distinctive approach to garden design. The exhibition focuses on seven gardens, illuminating many design issues. The gardens range from the spiritual opulence of Beatrix Farrand's garden for Abby Aldrich Rockefeller in Seal Harbor, Maine to the geometric formalism of Dan Kiley's Miller House in Indiana and the Currier Farm in Danby, Vermont. Fletcher Steele's "Naumkeag" garden in Stockbridge, Massachusetts whimsically blends informal and formal elements set against the Berkshires. James Rose's garden at his residence in Ridgewood, New Jersey combines a strong Japanese influence with a modernist sensibility. A. E. Bye's gardens on Long Island and in Connecticut demonstrate his concern for purposely reflecting the indigenous patterns and plantings of nature.

Built Landscapes was curated by Michael Van Valkenburgh, Associate Professor at Harvard University's Graduate School of Design. One of his intentions in assembling the exhibition was of "wanting gardeners to realize there are many different kinds of good designs". Van Valkenburgh also chose to limit the locations to the Northeast "because

QUESTION:

HOW DO EMPLOYEES & COMPANIES BENEFIT FROM CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL MANIPULATION?

ANSWER: With higher performance and more productivity.

Whan a worker is sidelined becouse of a heelth problem, everybody loses

The company loses e valuable employee, which could meen e loss of production. The worker loses self-confidence in addition to suffering pain and disability. The family unit loses part of its income, so important to maintaining a standard of living. The union loses part of its health and welfare fund in payments and other benefits

Obviously, there is no wey of eliminating on-the-job and off-the-job injuries entirely. But it would be helpful end less costly for all if time for recuperation could be reduced.

Chiropractic can reduce time off. In fact, comperative studies of Workers' Compensation cases from a number of states prove chiropractic's effectiveness in getting injured employees on their feet faster.

Imegine the advanteges of eliminating hospitelizetion. Being treeted on an out-care basis. Not being subjected to the hazards and expenses of drugs and surgery

Here's what you can do:

- Get to know the chiropractic health method and its benefits.
- Make chiropractic services available to employees in any heelth and welfere or insuranca program with which you are essociated. Insist upon it
- Recognize the importance of structural heelth. One of the best sefeguards ageinst illness and disease is to practice a progrem of heelth care which includes chiropractic spinel examinations

Chiropractic haelth care makes sense—in terms of people end money.

fifteen nominations in the 1983-1987 ceremonies, Marsalis has a very special place in NARAS history: The first musician to win back-to-back awards in Jazz and Classical fields the same year (1984), hence the first musician to duplicate the achievement a year later (1985); and the first musician of the 80s (and only second musician in Grammy history) to win "Jazz Soloist" award for three consecutive years (1984-85-86).

Marsalis, who received his first trumpet from horn player Al Hirt at the age of 6, has forged a lasting name for himself. His rise to prominence in the jazz community is well documented-from the influences of his father (New Orleans jazz pianist Ellis Marsalis) to his first rumblings with Art Blakey's Jazz Messengers in the late 70s; from his triumphant tours with Herbie Hancock to his classical and jazz recordings and concerts.

For further information and/or to order tickets call the Zeiterion Box Office at 994-2900. The Theatre is located at 684 Purchase Street, Downtown New Bedford.

Dr. Maleska has approved and recommended several puzzles for the regional contest, of which three will be selected for use by the local committee for variety, flavor and comprehensiveness. The first and easiest is expected to be assigned a 20-minute solution time; for the second, contestants may use up to 45 minutes; the third, following the coffee break, may be assigned a 75-minute work schedule. Registration for the competition (morning coffee klatch included) is $5.00 per person; an added donation of $6.50 will reserve a place at the luncheon table for the home-cooked special buffet to be prepared by volunteers of the Friends group, a non-profit organization which uses any proceeds generated to underwrite cultural community programs at the library.

National YWCA Week, April 19-25. It is particularly appropriate in view of the work accomplished in the YWCA's child care programs. More than 300 YW's across the country offer some form of day care for children from infancy on -- a response to the crushing need for quality care with quality teachers.

Locally, the YWCA offers numerous programs for children, including Vacation Week activities, Saturday Camp-Ins, Toddlers' Workshop, Cooperative Artcare and a variety of activities and classes. In addition, the New Bedford YWCA offers a host of swim training programs for children, and operates one of the best training pools in the area.

A recent addition to our local offerings is the After-School Daycare program, located at the Parker and Hayden-McFadden Schools. The programs serve more than 100 families, caring for 120 children after school and during school vacations. The program offers a variety of activities geared to increase the physical and mental awareness of the children.
